The "Head Usher" before the first Sunday of the month will call the other ushers to remind them and ask if they will be gone any Sunday's during the month. The head usher will do a head count and record the number, write down weather and temperature conditions, put out the collections plates, recruit additional usher for collection if needed.

Each usher will hand out bulletins at each entryway and greet worshipers greet worshipers with a smile.

After the service, all ushers should help clean and straighten the pews.

As ushers are dismissing rows for communion or taking offering they should walk backward so that they face the altar.
